THE THREE BROTHERS

ABORIGINAL CULTURAL BELIEF STORY

Long ago, Berrug, with his two brothers, Mommom and Yaburog came to this land. They came with their wives and children in a great canoe, from an island across the sea. As they came near the shore, a woman on the land made a song that raised a storm which broke the canoe in pieces, but all the occupants, after battling with the waves, managed to swim ashore. This is how 'the men', the paigal black race [Aboriginal people], came to this land. The pieces of the canoe are to be seen to this day. If anyone will throw a stone and strike a piece of the canoe, a storm will arise, and the voices of Berrug and his boys will be heard calling to one another, amidst the roaring elements. The pieces of the canoe are certain rocks in the sea.

At Ballina, Berrug looked around and said, nyug? [what or something], and all the paigal about there say nyug to the present day, that is, they speak the Nyug dialect. Going north to the Brunswick, he said, minyug? [what or something], and the Brunswick River paigal say minyug to the present day. On the Tweed he said, gando? [what or something], and the Tweed paigal say gando to the present day. This is how the Aboriginal people came to have different dialects.

Berrug and his brothers came back to the Brunswick River, where he made a fire, and showed the paigal how to make fire. He taught them their laws about the kippara [ceremony], and about marriage and food.

After a time, a quarrel arose, and the brothers fought and separated, Mommom going south, Yaburog west, and Berrug keeping along the coast. This is how the paigal were separated into tribes.

ABOUT THIS STORY:

The Three Brothers is a cultural belief story about the origin of all Bundjalung people. It describes Aboriginal people arriving on the Ballina coastline and how they began. There are versions of this story for different cultural groups (or clans) within the Bundjalung region. This is the earliest written version told to Rev. H. Livingstone who recorded it in 1892. This version of the story, told as recorded, is appropriate to tell here for the Ballina area. However, other versions remain relevant to other Bundjalung cultural groups.

This version of the Three Brothers Story has been endorsed as appropriate for inclusion in this document by the Ballina Shire Council Aboriginal Community Committee.

MAYORAL INTRODUCTION

Ballina is a growing and prosperous regional centre that supports the economic and social needs of our community, located within a spectacular coastal and hinterland environment. It's not surprising that our community loves the place.

As our community continues to grow, it is important that the services and facilities available continue to support our community's needs and aspirations. At the same time we must strive to preserve and enhance the things that make Ballina a great place to live and visit. The Ballina Major Regional Centre Strategy has been prepared to help inform Council about what can be done to achieve balance between prosperity, social wellbeing, lifestyle and environmental outcomes as Ballina grows and changes over the next 20 years.

Developed over a period of two years, the strategy is founded on extensive community engagement to ensure that its direction and actions reflect the views and aspirations of our community. The strategy identifies a range of actions that Council will pursue to support economic opportunity and innovation, preserve environmental qualities and sense of place, support social cohesion and cultural expression and facilitate active and healthy lifestyles.

Recent trends and circumstances suggest that Ballina will have a significant opportunity in the coming years to build on its existing qualities and fabric to advance as a key economic centre in northern NSW. Continued infrastructure provision, the success of the Ballina Byron Gateway Airport, major planned areas for housing and employment centres, the Richmond River and coastline and the spirit of the community are just some of the features of Ballina that are building blocks for even greater opportunities and successes.

Overall, the strategy aims to provide Council with a framework to build on the best aspects of Ballina and the region, to lead the progress of Ballina, to tackle key challenges and to maximise opportunities that arise to the best benefit of Ballina and the Shire community.

On behalf of the elected Council, I would like to acknowledge and thank all those who participated in the preparation of the strategy. I trust the strategy will assist the current and future councils of Ballina Shire as Ballina continues to develop as one of the North Coast's regional centres.

REGIONAL CONTEXT

Ballina Shire is located on the coast approximately in the centre of the Northern Rivers region of New South Wales, which covers the local government areas of Ballina, Byron, Clarence, Kyogle, Lismore, Richmond Valley and Tweed. The region is well known for its beautiful scenic and environmental qualities, its mild subtropical climate, high rainfall and productive soils, and for its artistic and creative communities which reflect a mixture of country/farming communities, surf culture and counter-culture influences.

The Northern Rivers region sustains a strong tourist industry, supported by natural attractions including golden sand beaches, rivers and estuaries, mountains, rainforests and waterfalls. The coastal and nautical character of the region is strongly reflected in the local culture and in popular pastimes of locals and visitors, including surfing, boating and fishing. The significance of arts and creative industries to the region, economically and socially, continues to grow.

Key industries in the region, in terms of gross regional product (GRP), include health care and social services, manufacturing, construction, retail, education and training, accommodation and food services, agriculture, forestry and fishing, and financial, professional and other administrative support services. The key agricultural industries in the region include livestock (meat), milk, sugarcane, cut flowers & nursery stock, macadamia nuts, and fruit and vegetables.

The region has been described as 'a region of villages', reflecting the settlement history of the area characterised by dispersed small villages and rural hamlets supported by towns and higher order centres. Major centres in the region include Murwillumbah, Lismore, Casino, Grafton and more recently Ballina. The relationship between Ballina and Lismore is particularly strong due to the proximity of the centres (approximately 30 km apart), with Lismore providing higher order medical specialist and Base Hospital services to the both centres and surrounding areas. Further, due to the pull of its international brand, Byron Bay (approximately 30 km from Ballina) supports entertainment and night-life activities that also services residents from within the region.

The Brisbane/Gold Coast metropolis (including Tweed Heads at the QLD/NSW border) exerts an increasing influence on the region, particularly as road connections continue to improve. The Gold Coast, in particular, is a major retail and entertainment destination for residents within the Northern Rivers region.

The natural beauty and 'relaxed' lifestyle available in the region, along with high quality air and road transport connections, make it a growing 'lifestyle' region, attracting skilled migrants who are able to live and work in the region while staying connected with the rest of the world, online and by commuting to larger centres.

BALLINA AS A MAJOR REGIONAL CENTRE

The Ballina township is identified in the NSW Government's Far North Coast Regional Strategy as a developing major regional centre. To advance and consolidate Ballina as a regional centre, Ballina Shire Council has prepared a long term strategic planning framework for Ballina known as the Ballina Major Regional Centre Strategy (Ballina 2035).

The strategy is founded in extensive community engagement that underpins its outcomes and aligns with the NSW planning reform agenda. The 2013 NSW planning reform process envisaged strong up front strategic planning founded in community involvement to drive and inform planning. Whilst this type of approach is not new, the project is one of the first initiatives in NSW that seeks to achieve sound strategic planning and community engagement outcomes with specific regard for the State Government's 2013 reform process.

The strategy is focussed on the examination and drawing together of key issues including housing density, housing affordability, urban design, an ageing population, economic development, healthy living, infrastructure, recreation opportunities, open space, natural assets and environmental management (including climate change and flooding). Proximity to South East Queensland and the associated changes in the Northern Rivers region of NSW are also significant factors considered.

The strategy is supported by various background materials including community engagement outcomes, specialist studies and technical reports. These materials, along with this document address the strategy's development, including community engagement techniques employed and alignment with NSW planning reform objectives, as well as key trends, issues, aspirations, ideas and outcomes associated with the delivery of the project.

Ballina will continue to emerge as a major regional centre over the next 20 years. What this will mean for Ballina and what needs to be done to accommodate this change, in a way that benefits our existing and future residents, local businesses and visitors, is the subject of the Ballina 2035 Strategy. The strategy identifies key drivers of change, opportunities and key challenges over the next 20 years and proposes a series of actions that may be taken to respond to change in a proactive and positive manner.

The strategy addresses the following six key themes:

A

HEALTHY LIVING

B

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

C

CHARACTER, CULTURE AND AMENITY

D

E

HOUSING

Ballina 2035 seeks to identify measures by which the Council can respond to these themes, within its scope and responsibilities, in a manner that fits the character, needs and local culture particular to Ballina.

Ballina is characterised by:

- Being the Shire's core for the provision of a diverse range of retail, hospitality, civic, health, professional and business services in the Ballina CBD; retail in the Kerr Street Retail Precinct; light industry and large format retail in the Southern Cross Industrial Estate (North Ballina) and the West Ballina Enterprise Corridor; and marine industry in the Smith Drive Industrial Estate.
- Having quality urban infrastructure including road and pedestrian/cycle path networks, water and sewerage systems and public open space.
- A mixture of low density and medium density housing, including historic cottages, with higher density development generally located in proximity to the CBD and in sections of East Ballina. Lower density residential development dominates elsewhere.
- Relatively flat topography, wide streets with large areas of green public open space, including sporting facilities, passive open space and urban bushland, linked by an extensive shared pathway network.
- Extensive access to coastline areas, beaches and key waterways of the Richmond River and North Creek.
- Strong links to Aboriginal and European cultural heritage including historic buildings (cottages and homesteads, main street commercial buildings and civic and religious buildings), prominent street trees and cultural values and stories associated with key landscapes, coastal environments and urban bushland.
- Having strong education and hospitality sectors supported by diversity of choices in school education and by extensive tourism assets.

Ballina's key strengths and core competencies include the following:

- Accessibility to the coast, waterways & the natural environment – the physical environment is acknowledged as Ballina's key defining feature, due to its position on the Richmond River, North Creek and Pacific Ocean and proximity to natural areas.
- Open space assets and lifestyle – our extensive open space assets contribute in a significant way to the social, economic and environmental strength of Ballina.
- Safe and friendly community with a “low-key vibe” that is reflected in the character of natural and built environment and the character of our community.
- A transport hub of growing importance to the region, due to the Ballina-Byron Gateway Airport and Ballina's position at the intersection of the Pacific and Bruxner Highways.
- Well-serviced, in terms of the standard and broad range of urban infrastructure and services including road and pathway networks, accessible infrastructure (changing places) and sustainable water management infrastructure (including water recycling), as well as with health and education facilities.
- Regional food bowl – due to the Northern Rivers region having productive soils and relatively high rainfall, which supports a strong (and developing) local food culture that has a reputation for quality, freshness and sustainability.
- Regional arts culture and creativity – due to the reputation of the Northern Rivers as a region that values arts and creativity as a core part of its identity and attractiveness.
- Proximity to commercial and cultural/entertainment opportunities in Brisbane and the Gold Coast.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

This strategy is founded on comprehensive community engagement involving the following:

- Futures Forum - Council held an evening discussion forum at the commencement of the project, involving 47 randomly selected members of the Ballina community. The forum sought to establish community views in response to the following:
 - What does Ballina becoming a major regional centre mean for our community?
 - What are the opportunities it could create?
 - What are the challenges which need to be considered?
- Civic Panel - The Civic Panel, comprising 14 community members from the Futures Forum participants, has met at key stages during the project to provide feedback and act as a community “sounding board” to the project’s progress.
- Staff Forum – 18 Council staff members representing all groups within Council were invited to a discussion forum where the same questions from the Futures Forum were considered.
- Interagency Government Forum - Council held a forum for representatives of Government agencies to meet and discuss views within the context of a strategic plan for the future of Ballina.
- Presentations to Community Groups – Council invited 24 community groups to engage with members of the project team via various means. Eleven of these groups have participated in the project. Project team members gave presentations and invited open discussion and mapping of concerns, experiences and aspirations to directly feed into the project.
- Presentations to Schools - To gain youth input in to the project, local schools were invited to receive a brief presentation from the project team to facilitate student input in terms of their experiences and thoughts for the future of Ballina. Three schools participated, with students from years six and ten engaged in an interactive workshop. A series of maps were made using the sMap social mapping tool through this process. Council’s Youth Council was also consulted and has had input in to the project.

- Newspaper Articles - Articles (six in total) which gave the community background to the project’s progress and invited thought on key issues were written and published over a six week period in the Ballina Advocate. The process instigated letters and emails to Council, and stimulated the use of the sMap and Instagram tools.
- Creative Workshops - There were four workshops of 2.5 hours each held, targeted at grandparents and grandchildren or older residents and their younger friends or relatives, which were designed to bring generations together to share experiences of the Ballina community and what participants like about living in Ballina, through paver-based art. Following the workshops, the pavers were fired and have been incorporated into the Wigmore Arcade redevelopment, providing a durable record of what is important about our community to different generations. Approximately 60 people were involved in these workshops.
- sMap – Ballina Shire Council was the first organisation in Australia to use sMap, which is an interactive online mapping tool with which community members are able to map points of interest and post comments and suggestions for Ballina’s future. A total of 62 maps were produced with over 500 points of interest plotted using sMap.
- Instagram - Council set up Instagram hashtag - #ballinafuture and asked that people tag photos they have of what they like, or dislike about Ballina, or tag photos of what they would like to see in Ballina in the future.
- Facebook – Council utilised the social media platform Facebook to notify and engage with our community. The ‘Ballina2035’ Facebook page received over 750 page ‘likes’ and 92 ‘comments’, with over 11,000 people ‘reached’ through the platform.

■ Stage 1 Public Exhibition – Council exhibited reporting and information based on the community engagement undertaken to seek further feedback prior to preparing this strategy document. The exhibition information included: Context Information; Strategic Question Sheets; Background Report; and Technical/Specialist Studies.

■ Industry Peer Review Panel – In association with the finalisation of the draft strategy, Council established an Industry Peer Review Panel to review the proposed strategy approach and actions, with a view to providing critical feedback and additional ideas on the delivery of the strategy objectives from an industry perspective. The purpose of the panel was to provide an industry based testing point for approaches and ideas to support practical and innovative preparation and implementation of Ballina 2035.

■ Stage 2 Public Exhibition – Council publicly exhibited a final draft strategy, inviting further community feedback, between December 2015 and February 2016.

■ Traditional media – Additional to the above, conventional advertising (through local media), media releases and Council's own community publication ("Community Connect") have been utilised to raise community awareness of the project.

CIVIC PANEL

A 'Civic Panel' was formed to advise Council directly on the preparation of the strategy. Members were selected from participants of the Ballina Futures Forum, which was made up of randomly selected members of the community. The Civic Panel met on five occasions during the development of the strategy, to provide input and review draft material at key stages. The Civic Panel's role involved the following:

1. July 2014 – Overview of the project. Confirmed the role of the Civic Panel and the terms of reference. Review of material summarising the outcomes of the Futures Forum, including key ideas and core values distilled from feedback provided at the forum.
2. September 2014 – Overview of the roles of local government and scope of Council activities. Update on community engagement activities. Feedback on proposed technical studies to be prepared to inform the strategy.
3. March 2015 – Update on progress of technical studies. Feedback on proposed structure of first stage public exhibition material. Feedback on proposed community engagement ideas.
4. May 2015 – Feedback on draft community engagement package. Update on progress of technical studies. Confirmation of proposed community engagement strategy.
5. September 2015 – Overview of community feedback from public exhibition. Review of and feedback on structure and content of working draft strategy.

PROCESS & TIMELINE

COMMUNITY ASPIRATIONS

The following key community aspirations were identified through Council's community engagement activities during the preparation of the strategy:

- A strong desire to preserve the natural and scenic qualities that contribute to Ballina's amenity and character.
- A desire for enhanced recreational opportunities associated with our open space areas and the coast and waterways, through improved infrastructure and amenities.
- Recognition that the community's future wellbeing will be underpinned by economic opportunities and employment growth and that these require us to support creativity, innovation and entrepreneurship.
- A desire to see more life and activity in the Ballina CBD, through the provision of more casual meeting spaces, enhanced 'street-life' and the clustering of boutique retail uses and development of a restaurant/nightlife precinct.
- A need to ensure that public places and facilities, beaches and waterways, commercial areas and our pathway network are connected to and accessible by all members of our community and visitors.
- A desire for enhanced cultural expression through more public art, interpretive signage, community events and activities.
- A recognition that the nature of our housing stock will need to change to ensure we have a variety of dwelling types suitable for a wide range of households.
- A desire to ensure that Ballina's transport infrastructure keeps pace with the needs of our community, in terms of strategic road improvements, affordable public transport options, and convenient and adequate parking opportunities.

VISION...

The following vision has been identified as the community's preferred outcome for Ballina in the year 2035:

IN 2035...

Ballina is a vibrant and prosperous
regional centre

PRINCIPLES & KEY THEMES

The vision is supported by four key principles, which have guided the development of the strategy's actions. These principles are:

INCLUSIVE	To ensure that everyone has opportunities to participate in community life to the fullest extent possible.
RESILIENT	To be always improving the capacity of our community to deal with challenges and can adapt to change.
SUSTAINABLE	To ensure that the decisions made today do not compromise the decision making options of future generations.
VIBRANT	To bring more life and vitality to Ballina's community, as a basis for community wellbeing and prosperity.

The ways in which these principles are reflected in the development of actions against the six key themes of this strategy is shown in the following table:

PHILOSOPHICAL APPROACH

The following section outlines Council's philosophical approach to the progress of Ballina to a major regional centre:

- Show leadership where it counts – A number of Ballina's unsung successes have been a product of forward thinking and pro-active Councils of the past (such successes include the airport, Angels Beach Drive & Prospect Bridge and the development of much of the shire's industrial and residential land). These successes reflect the need for Council to play a significant leadership role in key areas, to bring prospective success into reality.
- Enable things to happen – Recognise that sometimes Council's role is best served by being a 'catalyst' rather than 'doer', which may involve providing the forum, facility and/or appropriate regulatory arrangements to enable the doers to step-up and take good ideas forward.
- Make investments count – Look for opportunities to target investments of infrastructure and 'human capital' into areas that have potential to leverage multiple benefits, in terms of community wellbeing, economic opportunity and environmental enhancement. This may mean 'applying resources in a smarter way', rather than necessarily applying resources as 'more of the same'.
- Plan from the bottom up – Recognise that community input is a valuable tool at each stage of planning and delivering new ideas and that a citizenry which is well informed, empowered and 'networked' can bring the energy and information necessary to make good ideas great.
- Pick low-hanging fruit - Identify easy first steps to enable early implementation of key aspects of a project that have relatively low cost (both monetary and otherwise), with the overall project delivered in stages over time.
- Start from where we are – Knowing and acknowledging where we are now is part of the strategy for getting to where we want to be in the future. This recognises that at each step of the way we need to build on the existing resources, skills and opportunities currently available in our community.
- Engender entrepreneurial culture – Acknowledge the fact that sometimes the best approach is to do less rather than more, in the sense that the removal of barriers and bringing parties together, may be all that is required to stimulate others into taking good ideas forward.
- Facilitate an inclusive community – Seek to ensure that all members of our community have ongoing and equal opportunities to be involved in civic and community life to the greatest extent possible, regardless of their cultural or socio-economic background, or their physical or mental condition.
- Engender resilience – Pursue a path that respects the needs of the present whilst responding to the foreseeable challenges of the future, in a manner which is flexible and adaptable enough for future decision makers to do the same. This approach is the foundation of sustainability.
- Be disruptive – Acknowledge that at times it may be necessary for Council to lead the community in a particular direction or at least "shake things up" by challenging or disrupting current ways of thinking and doing things and pursuing change.
- Prototype, pilot and plan for failure – Acknowledge the fact that sometimes it is best to test an idea before moving to full implementation. This is the concept behind the 'tactical urbanism' approach. Coupled with appropriate feedback opportunities, this approach can ultimately save resources and improve outcomes to better meet the needs of our community. This also recognises that sometimes it's necessary for good ideas to be allowed to 'fail' so that they can be improved upon and turned into longer-term successes.

RESPONSES TO KEY DRIVERS

Key Drivers of Change	Strategic Response
Climate Change	Pursue adaptable and flexible climate change responses to appropriately manage foreseeable risks and provide options for future decision makers. The aim is to leave future decision makers in a reasonable position and keep options open in relation to climate change.
Small Business Innovation	Recognise the value of small business as the key driver of future economic growth and activity by fostering networking and innovation in the sector.
Ballina Byron Gateway Airport	Harness opportunities presented by having a key gateway to the region in Ballina, by making strategic investments in infrastructure and encouraging compatible economic opportunities.
Population Change	Recognise and prepare for population ageing, whilst encouraging demographic balance through the attraction of younger cohorts. Attraction of working families is important to the balance and economic prosperity of the community.
Population Growth Potential	Prepare for the population growth that is anticipated to occur with the development of major urban growth areas, in a manner which enhances lifestyle opportunities and access to services and facilities for existing and future residents. This includes an ongoing strategy of greenfield development in the Shire supported by targeted infill in Ballina.
Digital Readiness	Support digital readiness in government, business and community sectors to promote civic, economic and social networking opportunities.
Industrial Land Supply	Harness opportunities associated with the strategic location of Council's industrial land supplies, adjacent to the Ballina-Byron Gateway Airport and key future road infrastructure upgrades. Encourage long-term innovative business activity on Council's land.
Maritime Opportunities	Leverage off Ballina's maritime location through appropriate investment in infrastructure and embellishments to promote community and business opportunities associated with access to the coast and waterways.
Public Domain and Open Space	Build on opportunities associated with Ballina's high quality open space assets through strategic embellishment and improvements to the public domain, to promote active lifestyles and encourage social interaction and community cohesion.
Central Business District	Stimulate life and vitality in the Ballina CBD through enhancement of the public domain, "place activation" and the encouragement of private development that responds to the river setting of the CBD.
Visitor Economy	Harness opportunities for local business associated with the growth of the visitor economy, whilst managing the impacts of tourism on access to facilities and sense of place for the local community.
Proximity to South East Queensland	Acknowledge the increasing influence of South East Queensland on the North Coast region due to ongoing upgrades to the Pacific Highway, in terms of both the opportunities and pressures this presents. Link with South East Queensland in terms of employment, culture and housing.

A NOTE ON CLIMATE CHANGE

Ballina is in a vulnerable position when considering the predicted impacts of climate change, as expressed through the IPCC and various government policy and responses in Australia. In particular, Ballina may be impacted by rising sea levels and more extreme weather events, especially when thinking about inundation, tidal water, stormwater, coastal erosion and flooding.

From the perspective of the strategy, the key is not to find it all too hard or assume the worst. Rather, it is about a logical and measured response within the financial, knowledge and practical means of Council and the community over time.

The timeline for Ballina 2035 of 20 years is not long enough to solve climate change challenges nor to realise many of the projected impacts. However, the strategy is founded on a philosophy of managing risk and moving in a positive direction. The strategy is about ensuring Ballina is a vibrant and prosperous regional centre that warrants the public and private financial and technical investment to address the predicted and actual impacts. It is about encouraging the attitude, prosperity and investment necessary to pay for measures that can address the climate change challenges of the future.

PRIORITISATION & FUNDING

The actions identified in this strategy will be considered for incorporation into Council's Community Strategic Plan and Delivery Program and Operational Plan by the elected Council as these plans are reviewed.

The prioritisation and funding of actions identified in this strategy will be determined by the Council as part of its regular review of the Delivery Program and Operational Plan. Opportunities for obtaining funding from other sources will also be explored, including:

- Government grants;
- Special rates variations and levies;
- Direct user charges;
- Investment income;
- Developer contributions;
- Asset recycling;
- Commercialising infrastructure projects;
- Voluntary planning agreements;
- Commercial development; and
- Voluntary community funding ("Crowd Funding").

The suitability of the above funding strategies will vary from project to project. The identification of appropriate funding sources will be investigated as the actions are considered for incorporation into Council's Delivery Program and Operational Plan.

A key advantage of having Ballina 2035 in place is that the strategy clearly outlines the community's aspirations for the future of Ballina. This provides a valuable platform for Council seeking grant funding support from other sources.

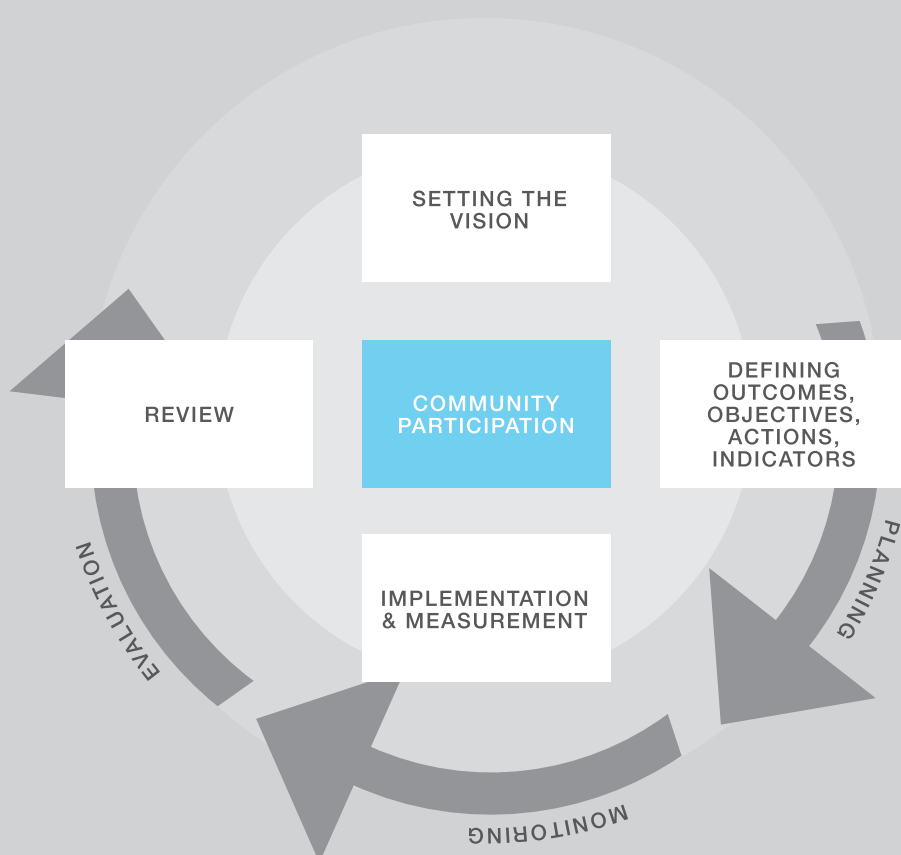

MONITORING, REVIEW AND COMMUNICATION

Ensuring this strategy remains contemporary and reflective of the community's aspirations will be an important aspect of the 20 year strategy. The periodic review of the strategy's outcomes will help determine if these outcomes continue to reflect the community's needs and desires in terms of the current issues and concerns of the time. Feedback from the review process can then be used to adjust the actions of the strategy if required to better address these needs. It is planned that this review process will occur every four years to coincide with Council's broader four year planning cycle.

The ongoing evaluation and monitoring of the strategy will involve:

- Branding and active tracking of BMRCS initiatives for community awareness.
- Ongoing use of social media and conventional media to keep the community informed of progress.
- Engagement with the project Civic Panel on an annual basis for at least three years.
- Annual reporting on implementation progress for at least the first three years.
- Four yearly review of the strategy (to coincide with elected Council terms).
