Meeting health and safety requirements when customers bring their own reusable containers and cups

» Why accept reusable cups and containers?

- Reduce packaging waste
- Send less waste to landfill (coffee cups cannot be recycled)
- Reduce litter in the community
- Support sustainable living

» Can we accept a customer's container?

Yes, the legislation under the Food Act 2003 (NSW) or the Australian New Zealand Food Standards Code does not prohibit the use of reusable cups and containers.

The purpose of the Act is to ensure food for sale is both safe and suitable for human consumption.

» Can leftovers be placed in a customer's container?

Yes, the Act or Code does not prevent a business from accepting a customer's container for their leftovers.

» Can my business decline reusable cups and containers?

It is up to the business whether you accept containers brought in by customers or not. It is a business decision rather than a constraint due to legislation.

» What about hygiene?

Under the Food Standards Code, businesses are directed to only use packaging material which is 'fit for its intended use' and is unlikely to cause contamination during or after the packaging process.

Council does not recommend to accept non-food containers (for example, chemical storage containers) for food or drink purposes.

» How can I support reusable cups and containers?

Place a reminder sign to ensure customer's containers are clean, in good condition and of food-grade material.

Offer a discount (e.g. 50 cents) for customers who bring reusable items for their takeaway food or drink purchases.

»» Tips to reduce single use plastic items for food retailers

Here are some examples of ways to reduce single use items in your workplace. Compostable options are included as they reduce reliance on single use plastics, however reusable items are always best where possible.

- Clearly mark landfill, recycling, and compost bins with what belongs in each
- Always ask whether a customer is eating in or taking away so that single-use items aren't used unnecessarily
- Use an organics bin service if available

COFFEE

- provide a discount to customers with their own reusable cup
- sell reusable cups
- offer a borrow ware or swap cup system

WATER BOTTLES

- provide table water in glasses or a free refill station
- for takeaway options, stock reusable bottles for sale

TAKEAWAY CONTAINERS

- provide or sell reusable containers
- offer a discount on next purchase where containers are returned

FOODWARE

- use washable reusable items such as stainless steel cutlery and ceramic plates
- ask takeaway customers if they need cutlery rather than automatically providing single use items

PLASTIC BAGS

- sell branded reusable cloth bags or stock Boomerang Bags
- offer a borrow and return reusable bag service
- provide paper bags and recycled cardboard boxes for larger orders

STRAWS

- only provide straws when requested
- provide or sell stainless steel straws
- switch to paper straws (if straws are unavoidable)
